

Brief Profile Maturity GmbH

Maturity was founded in Munich in September 2001 by Hubert Buchmann and Thomas Karg, both of whom possess many years of experience and extensive competence in the benchmarking field.

Maturity is the innovative consulting company that has exclusively specialised, on the international scale, in IT benchmarking, IT controlling and IT governance. The entire team is made up of computer scientists, business consultants and business analysts who have worked together for many years in this field on behalf of well-known companies.

Within the scope of IT cost-effectiveness analyses, Maturity compares the effectiveness ("doing the right thing") and efficiency ("getting it right") of the information technology used at a client's with selected data from companies that have similar requirements and comparable complexity (IT benchmarking). The aim is not to achieve cost optimisation at all cost, but to sensibly optimise the cost-benefit ratio taking all economic criteria into account.

Our clients are small and medium businesses and also internationally active corporations from all sectors.

Maturity benchmarks create transparency in our clients' IT operations. Are services provided as the best in their class or are there possibilities of optimisation? If improvement potentials are identified, individual recommendations for their implementation are presented.

By the realisation of effective and efficient IT, the aim is to ensure companies' economic security and ability to survive in future.
